

E-learning: Costs budgeting

Synopsis

We've teamed up with one of the UK's leading costs draftsmen – John M Hayes – to put together an interactive costs budgeting course with practical exercises and feedback from one of their costs lawyers.

Because a court approved costs budget acts as a cap on the costs that can be recovered, it's essential that Precedent H is well drafted and properly calculated. Our course will show you how to do just that.

Even if you use a costs draftsman to prepare your costs budgets, the Statement of Truth must be signed by a fee-earner so it's vital you can spot any omissions or errors.

Duration

1 hour

Format

You can work through the course at your own pace. You can stop at any time. The next time you log-in you will be prompted to restart the course at the place you left off.

Delegates

Personal injury litigators running multi-track cases

If you want to buy multiple subscriptions please contact Kath Kinch at Kath@kinchrobinson.com.

Outcomes

As a result of completing this course, you will:

- know which parts of the CPR govern costs budgeting;
- understand where to insert different elements of cost in Precedent H;
- understand the importance of having a case plan before completing Precedent H;
- be aware of the tactical considerations when completing Precedent H;
- understand the importance of including well drafted assumptions; and
- understand the effect of court approval - or refusal to approve.

Content

- CPR relating to costs
- Case Study of a personal injury claim arising from an accident at work
- Tactical considerations
- Impact of the court's refusal or approval of a costs budget