

E-learning: Supervising trainee solicitors

Synopsis

This course is ideal for anyone responsible for supervising a trainee solicitor.

It looks at setting expectations, delegating effectively, and giving feedback that actually makes a difference. As well as covering possible problem areas, the course also explains the SRA's requirements for supervisors.

In short, you'll learn how to get the best from your trainees, and how to contribute as they develop into your firm's next generation of lawyers.

Duration

30 minutes

Format

E-learning

Delegates

Lawyers and other people in your organisation who are responsible for supervising trainee solicitors.

Outcomes

After completing the course, your supervisors will:

- be better at delegation and feedback
- respond effectively when working with different generations (e.g. millennials)
- know how to comply with SRA requirements for supervising trainees

Content

- Setting expectations
- Delegation and feedback
- Responding to different generations
- SRA requirements
- Dealing with problems